Just when I think I can't wait no more, those little candy canes hit the store

Cuz that's the thing most kids hold dear, the things they ask Santa for each year

But on Christmas morn they weren't for me, I just wanted that lil' hook on my tree Chorus

Every year I would demand, to go to a store to see the Man

And I would sit on Santa's knee, and he would ask what he could get for me

But he didn't know my evil plan, was to get a free candy cane from that man! Chorus

The years have passed and I can see how this big ol' world has changed for me

But deep inside lives this little boy, who waits each tear for Christmas joy

He thinks this world would be less insane, if everyone ate a candy cane! Chorus
